Advocacy through Field-based Research

Humanitarian, human rights and development practitioners become agents for sustainable change

Trainer: Stefan Ziegler

Stefan Ziegler has over 10 years of experience in the fields of research and advocacy related to humanitarian action. He currently works as the project manager for the Barrier Monitoring Unit, a research team for the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA), in the West Bank. He has experience working in all levels of planning from Operations Support Officer for the U.N. to Strategic Planning Associate at the Irish Peace Institute. His years working for the ICRC have given him the opportunity to work with partners in promoting advocacy campaigns and to fundraise for projects no longer in the limelight.

Stefan is also an affiliate trainer with RedR in London, a member of the Irish and Swiss Emergency Response Teams and no stranger to giving formal or informal trainings internationally. He further works as a consultant in humanitarian matters, lectures and organises seminars in this varied field.
